Monday, 1st July 2013 – Accession of Croatia to the European Union

Also in... \(Français\)

f p e t in +

On 1st July, Croatia, a country with a population of 4.5 million, became the 28th member State of the European Union. Croatia applied for EU membership in 2003. The entry negotiations were underway by 2005, and after the Treaty of Accession was signed in 2011 in Brussels, a referendum was held in 2012 during which 66% of participants voted in favour of EU accession. Thus after Slovenia, Croatia is the second former Yugoslav republic to join the EU.

Croatia is administratively divided into 423 municipalities (up to 30,000 inhabitants) and 127 cities (more than 10,000 inhabitants). The country is a melting pot of cultures due to its numerous borders: with Slovenia, Hungary, Serbia, Bosnia Herzegovina, Montenegro and the coastal border with Italy across the Adriatic.

In terms of justice, security and liberty, in 2006 the European Commission had initially evaluated that “considerable efforts” were needed. This stage of negotiations, which ended in 2010, was the object of a report handed at the beginning of 2013, in which the Commission concluded that the country had successfully responded to the European requirements, although further efforts needed to be made to prevent corruption.

Efus has built a strong network in Croatia with stakeholders in the field of local security. Efus participated in the urban conferences organised in 2009, 2010 and 2012 by the magazine Zastita (“Protection”) on various issues related to urban security (read the article here), as well as with the United Nations Development Programme – UNDP (read the article here).

Welcome to the EUCPN website.

The EUCPN (European Crime Prevention Network) was set up in May 2001 by an EU Council Decision to promote crime prevention activity in Member States across the EU, and to provide a means through which valuable good practice in preventing crime, mainly "traditional" crime, could be shared. This founding legislation was repealed and replaced by a new Council Decision on 30 November 2009.

This website, which is run and maintained by the EUCPN Secretariat, showcases the work of the EUCPN and provides a source of information on crime prevention issues and activities to help both the members of the Network and other crime prevention practitioners deliver effective solutions that will prevent and reduce crime.

General enquiries about the EUCPN and other requests should be addressed to the EUCPN Secretariat - eucpn@ibz.eu.

Prevention of and Fight against Crime (ISEC)

Organised crime is a threat to European citizens, businesses and state institutions – as well as the economy as a whole. Criminals operate across borders, and consistent European-level action is the most effective way to stop them. The Programme Prevention of and Fight against Crime  (ISEC) supports such activities.

ISEC has a budget of EUR 600 million for the period 2007–13 and contributes to citizens' security through projects that prevent and combat crime. Terrorism, human trafficking, child abuse, cybercrime, illicit drug and arms trafficking, corruption and fraud are a particular focus. The programme has four key strands:

- crime prevention
- law enforcement
- witness protection and support
- victim protection.

The EU supports actions intended to increase operational cooperation (e.g. strengthening networking, mutual confidence and understanding, exchanging and disseminating information, experiences and best practices). Other funded activities include monitoring and evaluation, development and transfer of technology and methodology, training and exchanges and awareness-raising and dissemination.

In 2011 the Commission carried out a mid-term evaluation of the framework programme "Security and Safeguarding Liberties" and issued [Commission Communication COM\(2011\)318 !\[\]\(4a7b4ce770af8456e11a71f9565c8c2b_img.jpg\) \[78 KB\]](#) .

Stories from UNODC

Empowering civil society to fight corruption

The UN Convention against Corruption recognizes the role of civil society in combating impunity by calling on governments to increase transparency, improve access to information, and to promote public contribution to government decision-making processes. UNODC bolsters the capacity of civil society, especially from developing countries, to work constructively with governments and the private sector on the implementation of the Convention. ## India: new assessment of victim assistance and criminal justice initiatives against human trafficking

UNODC has commissioned a country assessment of service providers and criminal justice actors who deal with victims of human trafficking in India. The report is the result of consultations with officers of anti-human trafficking units, key ministries and civil society, as well as government and NGO-run victim shelter homes. It also provides a brief situational analysis of 13 forms of human trafficking and highlights broad trends across the country. [\[Read More\]](#)

Visit with Quebec Minister for Aboriginal Affairs

The Quebec Minister for Aboriginal Affairs, Ms Elizabeth Larouche, was in the ICPC office on May 10 2013 to participate in a data-gathering activity for the Cabot Square project. A very interesting discussion of nearly two hours ensued between the Minister and Allison Reid, Coordinator of the Cabot Square project, Montreal urban aboriginal community strategy NETWORK, Carrie Martin, Native Women's Shelter of Montreal, Vivien Carli, team leader of the project and analyst at the ICPC and the Director General Daniel Cauchy.

Very generous of her time and sensitive to the phenomena of aboriginal displacement in urban environments, Minister Larouche also shared with us other factors of interest for her government regarding the aboriginal communities of Quebec.
